

This is intuitively a bad idea. As a guardian of the public trust you, the FCC, should not allow this to happen any more than it already has. If this trend continues the so-called democratic process is a sham.